

China Railway s Longest Bridge

China also operates some of the fastest high-speed trains in the world. These dynamic transportation networks drive the construction of some awe ...

The Danyang-Kunshan Grand Bridge, on the Jinghu High-Speed Railway (aka Beijing-Shanghai High-Speed Railway) is 164 km (102 miles) long. This new line (open from June 2011) also crosses the ...

China dominates this list almost completely, reflecting its extraordinary investment in high-speed rail infrastructure over the past two decades. Understanding the world's longest bridges ...

Danyang-Kunshan Grand Bridge, longest bridge in the world since its opening in 2011. Located in China, it is part of the Beijing-Shanghai high-speed railway and is 102.4 miles (164.8 km) long. It was built in ...

The bridge runs roughly parallel to the Yangtze River, about 8 to 80 km (5 to 50 mi) south of the river. It passes through the northern edges of population centers (from west to east) beginning in Danyang, ...

Spanning 164.8 kilometers, this structure holds the world record for the longest bridge ever built, a title it's held since June 2011, according to Guinness World Records. Built in just four ...

China also operates some of the fastest high-speed trains in the world. These dynamic transportation networks drive the construction of some awe-inspiring bridges. The longest of these, ...

The total length is 157 km, making it the longest railway bridge in China. It once held the record of the longest bridge in the world when it was completed in 2004.

The longest bridge in the world is over 100 miles and takes travellers two hours to cross. The Danyang-Kunshan Grand Bridge is a 102-mile railway viaduct in China, connecting two of the ...

Discover the awe-inspiring Danyang-Kunshan Grand Bridge in China, the longest railway bridge in the world. Learn about its construction, significance, and the engineering feats that make it a symbol of ...

See the longest bridges in the world ranked by total length. Explore record-breaking spans, rail viaducts, and mega highways built through 2026.

Web: <https://www.maxtools.co.za>

